

EVERYBODY LIKES MUSIC and the COMMUNITY

CHAUTAUQUA

Ole Theobaldi, Court Musician.

Is going to be turned into a veritable musical festival! If you should buy a season ticket, paying the regular price for it, and hear ONLY the music, you'd be abundantly satisfied.

TEN MUSICAL PROGRAMS

LET'S look at the Chautauqua from the standpoint of music alone. There will be ten great musical programs.

THE AMERICAN QUARTET

And Clayton Conrad, Cartoonist, Will Open the Chautauqua

Perhaps the best organization of its kind in existence. They comprise both a singing and an instrumental quartet. Their voices harmonize perfectly. The cartoons by Clayton Conrad, newspaper cartoonist, are a distinct feature of their work. He uses two easels and draws life size pictures of types of men and women as he talks.

O'HARA AND WETMORE.

each a "whole show in himself." Geoffrey O'Hara is a song writer and Irish tenor. Two of his best known songs are "Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me," and "Your Eyes Have Told Me." You've heard them and perhaps sung 'em. O'Hara scored a great success as a soloist with the Ottawa Symphony Orchestra in Canada. W. T. Wetmore, impersonator, has done big things in musical comedy and has appeared with success in the Brooklyn Institute. Many of his impersonations are in dialect, and most of them are humorous.

THE DUNBAR SOUTHERN SINGERS

in songs of the southland, one of the famous Ralph Dunbar organizations that has won a high place in Chautauqua circles. Charles Frink, banjoist, will delight you with a number of old dandy melodies, sung to the accompaniment of his banjo. "Get on Board the Gospel Train" and other old time favorites will be sung.

VICTOR'S FLORENTINE BAND AND NEAPOLITAN TROUBADOURS

If any one day stands out above all the others it is obviously Band Day. The band has made successful tours over the Chautauqua circuit and is one of the most notable organizations appearing among the Chautauquas. The Troubadours, wearing the garb of Italian street strollers, will sing the songs of their native land with tambourine, banjo and other accompaniment. It will be a great event! Remember, the fourth day.

OLE THEOBALDI.

Wizard Norwegian violinist, and his two assisting artists, Mme. Florence Alice Stitzel, operatic soprano, and Mlle. Helen Kelere, pianist. Theobaldi has been court musician to the imperial families of Russia, Sweden and Denmark and has received more than sixty medals and court decorations. The instrument he plays is more than 300 years old and is valued at $25,000.

YOUR SEASON TICKET

will make these great musical numbers cost 20 cents—or less. Average it up for yourself. Besides, there are the lectures and the purely ENTERTAINMENT features that we haven't even mentioned! Don't you think TODAY would be the time to get that season ticket? Talk to some of the business men about it.

AT BARRE BEGINNING AUGUST 2D

WATERBURY

There was a large attendance of the members of Dillingham grange Saturday night and visitors from Middlesex and Waterbury Center.

Eugene Harvey, Jr., was surprised on his return from the home of a friend Saturday afternoon to find a large number of his school mates and playmates present to remind him of his 11th birthday. Games were played, refreshments served, and all enjoyed a happy afternoon.

George Humphrey was thrown out Sunday on Gregg hill and hurt so that he is unable to work. It is thought that a dog scared the team which, in making a quick turn, overturned the vehicle so that Mr. Humphrey and both sons were thrown, the sons escaping uninjured. The buggy was somewhat damaged.

Stanley Buzzell of Waitsfield was a guest of his brother, Raymond, at the Vermont state hospital over Sunday.

Carlyle Child was home from his work at Windsor over Sunday.

Mrs. S. F. Drew of Dorchester, Mass., is a guest of Mrs. L. H. Elliot.

BAD DREAMS ARE SYMPTOMS

Ill Health the Cause—Many Alarming Symptoms of Women's Ailments—How Cured.

Patterson, N. J.—"I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me feel happy and healthy. Some time ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the aforesaid ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles."—Mrs. ELISE J. VANDER SANDE, 7 Godwin Street, Patterson, N. J.

Women suffering with any form of female ill, or any symptoms that they do not understand, are invited to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. (confidential), and receive advice wholly free of cost.

CIRCUS HAS CLOWNS WHO MADE KINGS GRIN

Hart Brothers, with Barnum & Bailey Show, Were Once Court Jesters.

Clowns from every land—80 of 'em—are coming to Montpelier on Saturday, July 8, with the Barnum & Bailey circus, but among the host of funmakers there are two brothers who can boast of unusual laurels. These two—the Hart brothers—are a pair of acrobatic jesters who were at one time official entertainers to the sultan of Turkey, and it is their proud boast that they are the only clowns that ever made the ruler laugh.

A Turkish government official saw them once at a circus performance in Berlin, and he persuaded them to come to Constantinople. Here their success was instantaneous and they became great favorites of the former sultan, Abdul Hamid, who made them the official jesters of his court.

When Abdul Hamid was forced to abdicate, the Hart brothers determined to try their fortunes in America. They secured an engagement with the Barnum & Bailey circus and have since been two of the principal mirth provokers of that show.

The circus program this year is a thrilling and novel display of wonders, including all that is best of both foreign and American acts. More than 480 performers appear in the riding, acrobatic and aerial numbers, and the majority of them are making their first appearance with an American circus. An important feature is the new Oriental spectacular display, "Persia, or the Pageants of the Thousand and One Nights," a gorgeously costumed revue of the splendors of the most opulent kingdom of the far East during that romantic, mysterious period when the tales of the "Arabian Nights" were enacted—adv.

PAGE OUT FOR RE-ELECTION

Vermont's Junior Senator Asks Voters for Their Support

DECLARES HE STANDS ON HIS RECORD

Also Refers to His Committee Appointments in Present Senate

Washington, D. C., July 5.—United States Senator Carroll S. Page to-day announced his candidacy for re-election to the Senate, using the following statement:

To the People of Vermont:
I am a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate.

No extended reasons for this announcement are necessary. For many years I have been before the people of Vermont in both business and official life. Anything I might say of myself would neither add to nor detract from my record. It has been made, and upon it I expect to stand or fall.

My position upon all questions coming before Congress is a matter of public record. I have undoubtedly made mistakes, but I have never dodged the responsibility of voting on any rollcall. I know that I do not need assure Vermont that I have always voted conscientiously and as in my judgment would best conserve and promote the interests of my state and the country.

Whether I have or have not given prompt attention and painstaking care to every requirement of my constituents is for Vermonters who have entrusted their interests to my keeping to say.

I stand squarely upon the Republican national platform. Especially as a member of the committee on naval affairs have I earnestly advocated preparedness in that department of our national defense.

The rule of promotion in the United States Senate, through seniority of service, has given to Vermont, because of her retention of her senators, a measure of influence which none of the smaller and very few of the larger states have enjoyed.

Everyone conversant with national legislation understands that the real work of the United States Senate is done in committees. My position on important committees—especially naval affairs, banking and currency, education and labor, and agriculture and forestry—give me a standing in legislative matters which no new senator could hope to reach in less than eight to 15 years.

On the committee on agriculture and forestry my rank is such that with the change of administration which we confidently expect on the 4th of March, I should automatically become chairman. This is the position occupied by Senator Proctor at the time of his death, and is vastly more important to Vermont than any other in the entire line of chairmanships.

It behooves Vermont to send as her senator the man who can serve the state and the nation with the greatest possible efficiency at this critical time. If I am that man I should be returned. If I am not, there should not be the slightest hesitancy about retiring me and selecting another.

I have received hundreds of letters urging me to announce my candidacy and offering as a reason therefor the fact that we are to-day confronting critical conditions, both social and economic, with possible foreign complications so disturbing and perilous as to demand, in the halls of Congress, that mature judgment and experience which can come only through long service.

I keenly appreciate the many expressions which have come to me approving my senatorial stewardship. I hope for the endorsement at the primaries of both my former supporters and the young people of Vermont who have come to the polls since my last election and who now share the responsibilities of state and nation.

If the people of Vermont see fit to honor me by a re-election, I shall be duly grateful.
Carroll S. Page.

I like Adams Chiclets because they like me. Mother says they're just right—candy and gum all in one. I put them in my mouth and let the candy melt. Then I chew the gum. It's dandy, fine gum, too. They are white as can be and sweet—well, I should say so.

"New Post Toasties"

From House to House the Good News Spreads

Many housewives have found a happy solution of the breakfast problem in New Post Toasties.

These new corn flakes are distinctive in that they bear a self-developed flavor all their own—the delicate, fascinating flavor of choice, white Indian corn. Unlike other flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar to make them palatable.

Try a handful without cream and sugar—note the fine flavor and new form; also the tiny "bubbles" on each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing characteristic and are produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making, which also brings out the wonderful flavor.

Although the New Post Toasties are a great improvement in flavor and form, they cost no more than ordinary flakes. Have a package delivered for to-morrow's breakfast.
